

SOUTH ISLAND NATIONAL SHOW INVERCARGILL 2023

Chief Judge's Report

Michael Coulter

This years National Show was held in Invercargill with exhibitors travelling from Christchurch, Ashburton, Temuka and Mosgiel as well as the local growers. There were good entries which included some novices as well.

The overall quality of entries was up to expectations with most types represented although the large exhibition continued to be down on the number of people growing them. The decorative and incurved classes were well supported with all exhibitors entering good quality blooms which made for close competition.

The new fantasy class with 9 vases of one bloom in a vase had three entries which gave competition in the multi vase class, the first time for some years.

This may be a trend for other classes to follow to increase competition. The other classes of singles, anemone and sprays were shown in small numbers, some were in the special classes only.

There is an opportunity for more of these classes to be grown as they add diversity to shows and growers don't need to grow many plants to achieve flowers of show quality. The container plants added plenty of colour to the show and there were some large specimens which the public liked.

The top table flowers were as good as any I have judged at previous National Shows. Congratulations to all winners and exhibitors at the show, it was a privilege to judge the show.

Michael Coulter, Chief Judge
